

ALLY BALLY BEE

Also known as Coltart's Candy or simply Ally Bally
Lyrics by Robert Coltart

Ally bally, ally bally bee,
Sitting on your mommy's knee,
Crying for a wee penny,
To buy some Coulter's candy.

Ally bally, ally bally bee,
When you grow up, you'll go to the sea,
Making pennies for your daddy and me,
To buy more Coulter's Candy.
(Chorus)

Mommy get me my bank down,
Here's old Coulter coming around,
With a basket on his head,
Selling Coulter's Candy.
(Chorus)

Little Annie's crying to
See what can poor little Mammy do
But give them a penny between them two
To buy more Coulter's Candy.
(Chorus)

Poor little Jeanie's looking awfully thin,
A heap of bones covered over with skin,
Now she's getting a little double chin
With sucking Coulter's Candy.
